Sir,

I request that the following matter may kindly be published in your esteemed daily:

Genesis of Green Thrust

B.Sc. Agriculture students from Agricultural College and Research Institute (AC&RI), Tamil Nadu Agricultural University (TNAU), Coimbatore proudly presents Agronova'17 a State Level Agricultural Meet for school children as well as college students between Feb. 10-11, 2017. About 50-100 educational institutions are expected to participate.

This scientific celebration extends a warm convivial welcome to the future pillars of Indian nation. This grand function assures every contestant a lateral platform to prove themselves by provoking their hidden talents. Youth populations who are passionately curious in exploring the facts of India's Backbone (Agriculture) get to know with fantabulous Agro-Information's. Participants are provided with participation certificates, scientists motivational speeches, a visual treat through exhibitions (Agriculture) etc.

Through this Agro celebration students are involved in many scientific events thereby equipping the younger generation with greater Agriculture awareness. This Agronova'2017 is expected to create a wide spread awareness on hot off the press scenario of deflating land and natural stockpile that demands a shrived drive in Agriculture.
