Sir,

I request that the following matter may kindly be published in your esteemed daily:

Social Scientists should do research on impact of farm scheme in Tamil Nadu

Vice-Chancellor of Tamil Nadu Agricultural University (TNAU) Dr. K. Ramasamy reviewed the progress of social science research at TNAU. During the review he asserted that social scientist should probe about contemporary issues in agriculture and its effect on framing community.

In the Government of Tamil Nadu is implementing many schemes aimed to uplift livelihoods of farmers. The effect of such schemes on the life of farmers should be analyzed and quantify the impact.

He also stressed the importance of promoting integrated farming system and its viability to the farming community provided its profitability has been scientifically proved.

Earlier Dr. C. Chinnadurai, Director, CARDS, TNAU welcomed the gathering. Finally Dr. H. Philip, Director of Extension Education, TNAU, Coimbatore proposed a formal vote of thanks.
